

Amasty at Meet Magento Russia

Alena Dalidovich Aug 27, 2013

Our team has just returned from Meet Magento Russia 2013 and we can't wait to share some pics from the conference with you.

But first of all we'd like to thank all the conference participants. It was great to meet all of you in Moscow. We are glad to admit that the conference totally satisfied our expectations: we met a lot of interesting like-minded people, exchanged our experience and handed in all our gifts and prizes. We also enjoyed exciting presentations delivered by highly professional speakers.

The number of questions came after the Amasty's presentation clearly showed us that the topic, covered by Alexander Stelmakh in his report, was one of the most burning issues for Magento developers. And, of course, MacBook Air found its happy owner.

We are already missing you and promise to continue surprising you not only with our breathtaking presentations but with our quality products and fantastic support as well.

See you at the Developers Paradise on September 15th in Mallorca, Spain!
Stay tuned!
