

Come meet Amasty at Meet Magento Ukraine!

Ksenia Dobрева Sep 3, 2014

It is so heart-warming to see that international Magento community is evolving. 6th of September 2014 is the day of Meet Magento Ukraine takes place in Kyiv, at the Hilton Hotel.

Amasty is proud to be a Bronze Sponsor of Meet Magento Ukraine: this is one of the ways we are supporting Magento development market and e-commerce field.

And – ta-da! – Amasty Chief Strategy Officer and Co-Founder Alexander Stelmakh is speaking at the event. Alex was at the origin of Amasty and takes very active part in the company’s development, as well as in Magento community. For instance, you can check his profile on Stack Exchange, where he answers various questions regarding Magento, and you’re welcome to drop Alex a word there.

He’s a Certified Magento Developer and Zend Certified Engineer, and at the same time he’s ready to share his rich marketing and strategy experience with the audience.

Alex is going to talk on Five rules of a good e-mail campaign. We’re not showing all the aces, but there will be some insights backed by Amasty team and Alexander’s skills and experience.

Will you be at Meet Magento Ukraine? If yes, feel free to find Alex and talk all things Magento and e-commerce, he'd be happy to chat!

It is really inspiring that Meet Magento has finally arrived at the country which was a key development force of Magento from the very beginning. Now 250 of 300 Magento employees work in Ukraine, and this event is going to be a great communication platform for Magento developers of all levels and e-commerce specialists not only from Ukraine, but also from CIS countries.

You're welcome to have a look at the agenda, which includes speakers from Magento itself and representatives from leading Magento development companies.

See you in Kyiv in a few days!
